Seth E. Thomas of the Uncle Sam Loan office has returned from a month's trip to California, happy over the good time he had and filled with considerable praise for the Golden West.

Mr. Thomas says the coast cities are growing rapidly.

The boost idea prevails along the coast and everybody seems to be imbued with the spirit of development.

Mr. Thomas visited San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego and other important commercial centers.

PREPARATIONS FOR LABOR DAY IN CANYON

Manager P. D. Kline of the Ogden Rapid Transit company is making preparations for Labor Day at the Hermitage which will be next Monday, September 1. He states that the prospects are that it will be the largest Labor Day gathering in the history of the local organizations and that the car system will be taxed to its capacity to handle the crowds.

On Rio Grande day, last Saturday the company successfully conveyed something over 2500 people to and from the Hermitage and it is anticipated that the task will be even greater on Labor Day. All the labor unions are arranging to take part in the festivities.

AUTOS ARE IN COLLISION IN CANYON

Last evening at Magpie canyon, on the Ogden canyon road, the Scout car, a collision occurred between an automobile owned by Miss Marilla Hunter, music director of the Ogden City schools, and a machine which was being used by State Treasurer David Mattson. In which were riding his wife and children and a guest from Salt Lake, besides himself and the chauffeur, Claude Brown. In the Hunter machine were the Hunter sisters and two guests.

Miss Hunter was driving down the canyon while the Mattson company was ascending the gorge, the machines meeting at a point where the road makes a sharp turn, and on the turn was a large boulder. To miss the boulder, the Hunter machine was driven against the big auto coming up the canyon. It was a jarring collision, dislodging the occupants of both automobiles.

The machine, driven by Miss Hunter, was badly wrecked, requiring the combined efforts of a number of men who were camped nearby to get the car to the garage in the city.

JEFF'S 'DOPE' STORY RECEIVED

By W. W. Naughton

San Francisco, Aug. 25.—The Jeffries "dope" story will not down.

On the contrary, whereas there was a disposition to scoff at it when it was first sprung, and for that matter at each succeeding repetition, a recent renewal of the claims of four practices in connection with the Reno fight has brought about serious discussion from which it is gathered that many believe Jeffries was really a victim of dastardly work.

Jeffries himself intimates that he will make disclosures before long that will startle the world. Meanwhile he, in a measure, verifies the report sent out by Sporting Writer Bob Edgren of New York, to the effect that hired sleuths ran the thing down and placed Jeffries in possession of facts which show he was drugged by a man whom he considered his closest friend, and that other supposed cronies made scads of money by betting on Johnson.

Down in Los Angeles Promoter McCarey and other prominent sportsmen are saying that they are quite satisfied Jeffries was "got at." According to McCarey big Jim was so much under the influence of some form of "drowsy syrup," when he was making his way ringward, that he lurched hither and thither and bumped into the moving picture machine.

It is terribly late in the day for Jeff to be getting ready to unshrink himself in regard to a conspiracy so vile, and it is to wonder, too, that McCarey and the others didn't voice their opinions and suspicions before.

In his latest denouement, Writer Edgren adduces certain things which, while they have no immediate bearing on the "dope" story, suggest that every emergency likely to militate against Jeffries' chances of winning was taken advantage of. For instance, it is urged that a well-known sporting man took Jeffries fishing the day before the match and kept him standing so long in the water that Jeff took a chill.

Now, Jeffries' principal companion on that fishing trip, as we who were at Reno understood it, was Sandy Graywood, the veteran sport critic of Omaha.

If anybody were to accuse Sandy of being in on a deal to "hocus" Jeffries, such accusation would not be regarded as an outrage by Sandy's friends. It would be regarded as a joke, for Sandy is one of the gentlest, best natured persons that walk the earth. And fishing is Sandy's long suit.

In all that has been written there has been an intimation that the man who was closest of all to Jeffries was chosen to administer the knockout drops. Now, if a vote of all the sporting writers and unattached sportsmen who went to Reno were taken it would be found that little Dick Adams was considered Jeff's nearest and dearest friend.

Yet, after the thing was all over and the men who bet were counting their winnings and losses, Dick Adams had to give somebody a bill of sale over his household belongings in order to raise money to pay his losing wagers.

That is a good and sufficient alibi for Dick.

Through repeated revivals of the "dope" story, curiosity has been aroused and it is now up to those who claim to have proofs that a wrong was perpetrated either to reveal the entire plot or hold their peace forevermore.

He lives in Danville, the home of Senator Ollie James, and is a secretary of the Baptist Sunday school there.

Of course Price is a Democrat and has been all his life. He was a delegate to the Denver convention and is a follower of W. J. Bryan. About forty years ago he was born in Kentucky and has lived there ever since. He was graduated from the Central University, took a post graduate course in law and taught law there for eight years.

He has never married and is one of the eligible bachelors of the new diplomatic corps.

CHICAGO LADY COPS TO DON THIS ATTIRE

So curious were the Chicagoans to see the fair policemen who recently began doing duty in the western metropolis, that it was necessary in several cases to call on "plain clothes men" and even uniform male policemen to extricate the women from the crowds.

Though they have not yet donned their gorgeous official uniform, the photograph showing the uniform tentatively adopted gives one an idea of how the lady cops will appear when garbed in their finery. It is rather a stunning creation and while it shows that it is a police uniform, still it retains many feminine characteristics.

ROOSEVELT BACK HOME

Progressive Leader Makes a Short Visit With Politicians in Chicago En Route to East From Arizona—Talks of the Suffrage Victory in Illinois

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Colonel Roosevelt, burned almost as red as the desert Indians among whom he has been sojourning, arrived here today. He spent less than two hours in the city before taking the Pennsylvania special for Oyster Bay.

He was met at the Santa Fe station by Thomas D. Knight, president of the Chicago Progressive club, and a delegation of members, and later took a "standing" lunch conducted on a help-yourself basis at the club.

On the way to this function in an automobile, the colonel was recognized by many persons and waved his wide-brimmed Panama hat in response to occasional shouts of greeting.

He said that he had enjoyed his vacation and had profited by his studies of Indian character and customs.

At the clubrooms, the colonel was greeted by several suffragettes headed by Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout. In the course of his talk with Mrs. Trout, who told him she was the mother of four sons, he said that he knew of no man who was so much entitled to a vote as the mother of sons and daughters.

As the luncheon was informal, the colonel wore the same gray suit and soft shirt that he wore on the train. He paused at a bookstore and bought some books, including one about a prize fighter, another an Indian story and a third on big game.

In speaking of his outing in Arizona, Colonel Roosevelt said he spent the first fortnight hunting and that the party killed three mountain lions. He said he shot one and his two sons killed the others. He said the only fresh meat the party had on the hunting trip was the mountain lions and that the meat was delicious. He spent two weeks among the Navajos and visited the great natural bridge which spans the Grand Canyon which he described as a "triumphal arch of nature." He concluded his visit by attending the snake dance of the priests of the Hopi Indians which he said was extremely interesting.

Colonel Roosevelt declined to discuss the Mexican situation, saying he was not familiar with present conditions.

He made a five-minute speech at the Progressive club, in which he addressed the guests as "friends, ladies and gentlemen, voters all."

In referring to the talk of merging the Republican and Progressive parties, he asserted that the only possibility of such a plan would be for the Republicans to adopt every principle of the Progressives, including the judicial plank. In his brief speech Colonel Roosevelt said:

"There would be no woman suffrage in Illinois today if it had not been for the work done by the Progressive party last year. Never in the history of the country has a political party accomplished what the Progressive party has in its brief history."

"In regard to woman suffrage, I always had insisted that woman's duty as a voter would not interfere with her domestic duties any more than it

Monarch Malleable Range

In using a Monarch there is no waste—every particle of fuel does its full duty—every effort of the operator meets with that quick response characteristic of this perfect range. The Monarch reduces fuel expenditures, lessens kitchen drudgery and increases the happiness of the entire household. It will give the same satisfaction after years of splendid service as when new. If you want to know the pleasure of owning a thoroughly dependable range, buy a Monarch.

Come in and let us show you the many features of the Monarch that are different from those of any other range, just how each feature operates to save you steps, care and drudgery; how you need never use stove blacking or have smutty kettles to clean; how you may always know that you can depend on satisfactory results. The Monarch saves time—money—labor. We recommend the Monarch as it has always given satisfaction and we have absolute confidence in it.

does with a man's business. There are some fool men who neglect their business for politics and I suppose there will be some feminine fools of the same kind. God made woman fools to match the men. The average man and woman's first duty is to their home. Politics comes second.

"There has been a great deal of talk about political parties getting together. They can get together any time they wish by joining us. But they must adopt all of our principles, even the judicial plank in our platform. It has been said that I have condemned judges. I never have done anything of the kind. I never used anything like the language which Abraham Lincoln used in criticizing the United States supreme court. I believe judges are a high class of public servants but I don't believe in the right of any public servant to become a public master."

"If an executive does not do what the people want him to, he should be recalled, even if he is a judge. If we don't get the laws we want, we should have the initiative and referendum to give us the desired relief. We intend to do justice to no man."

"We are the only party that has adopted a rational plan for handling both big and little business. We don't believe in strangling business."

"We favor a policy that will compel business to serve the public, not to swindle it. Our wish is to apply the principles of Abraham Lincoln to the issues of the present day."

Washington, Aug. 25.—Representative J. T. McDermott's defense to charges brought out in the house lobby by investigation began today with cross-examination of Martin M. Mulhall, author of the expose which pictured the National Association of Manufacturers as the maker and breaker of many congressmen.

Mulhall swore the New York World which published the story, was now paying him $100 a week. His passages with McDermott's lawyer were fiery and sprinkled with invitations to "come outside." Cross-examination developed that on one recent visit to the World office, Mulhall was accompanied by Senator Reed of the senate lobby committee.

G. G. West, private secretary to McDermott, told the committee he did not know Mulhall and branded the latter's story of the use of the "secret room" in the basement of the capitol as a headquarters for spies on congressmen, as false.

INVESTIGATE A MAN'S SANITY

Henry Pytzer, a resident of the Hooper district for many years past, was taken into custody by the sheriff's officers last night and will be held pending an investigation as to his sanity. Pytzer, who is 72 years old, is believed to have suffered a slight attack of heat prostration. He was taken in charge by the officers at North Ogden, when residents of the town reported to the sheriff that the man was wandering aimlessly about town.

The old man left Hooper last Thursday to make a trip to Cleveland, Ida, where he sold a farm recently. He intended making the trip for the purpose of closing up his affairs in that locality. The officers were told that Pytzer had four $20 gold pieces in his possession when he left Hooper but they found only three when he was taken into custody. In explanation the old man said that he had allowed a woman to look at one of the gold pieces and she had failed to return it to him. Sheriff DeVine will make an effort to learn the identity of the woman.

MULHALL UNDER EXAMINATION

Washington, Aug. 25.—Representative J. T. McDermott's defense to charges brought out in the house lobby by investigation began today with cross-examination of Martin M. Mulhall, author of the expose which pictured the National Association of Manufacturers as the maker and breaker of many congressmen.

Mulhall swore the New York World which published the story, was now paying him $100 a week. His passages with McDermott's lawyer were fiery and sprinkled with invitations to "come outside." Cross-examination developed that on one recent visit to the World office, Mulhall was accompanied by Senator Reed of the senate lobby committee.

G. G. West, private secretary to McDermott, told the committee he did not know Mulhall and branded the latter's story of the use of the "secret room" in the basement of the capitol as a headquarters for spies on congressmen, as false.

Mulhall told of trying to dispose of his letters to William R. Hearst, P. Maxwell, editor of one of Hearst's magazines, who told Mulhall that the only reason he could advance for Hearst's lack of interest was that "he thought it would help the present administration."

Attorneys for McDermott declared they wished to show Mulhall's bias, impugn his creditability and question his accuracy and veracity. Chairman Garrett said they would have all possible latitude.

"Wouldn't you promise to obey a man of whom you thought enough to marry?"

"I might," replied Miss Cayenne. "But I should undoubtedly have a few things to say if he were ever so impolite as to remind me of my promise."—Washington Star.

MUTUALS OF WEBER STAKE

The young men and women of the Mutual Improvement associations of Weber stake met in annual convention yesterday. Two sessions were held. For the opening exercises, the two associations met jointly in the Weber academy and then separated to discuss plans and measures for the coming year.

A business meeting was held at 9 o'clock at which George Seaman was the principal speaker.

A musical program, consisting of congregational singing, a prelude by Miss Carrie Browning, a flute solo by Axel Nrlander, a trombone solo by Wilford Prytt and a vocal solo by Miss Erma Browning opened the general session.

During the afternoon various papers, dealing with the aims of the M. I. A., were read and discussed. There were about sixty delegates from the Young Men's association, and more than 100 young lady delegates. Officers from the twelve wards of the stake were present.

HOLDUPS USE A GUN ON MILLER

Holdups secured $10 from Thaddeus Miller, 2303 Lincoln avenue, when they poked a gun into his face as he was walking on the south side of Twenty-third street, between Lincoln and Grant avenues, Saturday night, but they overlooked a diamond ring which he was wearing.

Miller had just left a friend and was proceeding home when the two stepped from behind trees. When the money had been taken, Miller was ordered to proceed in one direction. The holdups hastily disappeared in the opposite.
